Re: Mountain Mutt Dog Coats
Date: April, 2017

Missouri German Shepherd is thrilled with the quality, design and coverage of the dog coats made by Mountain Mutts Dog Coats.

We first discovered Mountain Mutt coats when we had a serious medical abuse case named Caesar in December, 2017. He had many physical problems and it was imperative that we walk and exercise him daily. The trouble was it was the dead of winter and he was almost hairless.

We received two Mountain Mutts coats, thanks to Fran's generosity, and were delighted with them.

One thing we noticed immediately was the simplicity of the design. There's no need to thread the dogs' legs through openings, just wrap the dog quickly and be on your way. That was critical for us, since one of Caesar's many problems was mobility, an injured spine and bad back legs.

The Mountain Mutts coat was also the only coat that actually covered Caesar's neck and rump completely. For a hairless dog that's critical.

We expect these wonderful coats to last a very long time and help many more of our rescue dogs. We recommend them without hesitation.
